As I write this I am one day from packing to go to the National Conference on Keyboard Pedagogy in Lombard, IL. The schedule of events include: concerts, lectures, presentation on the newest materials available, teaching demonstrations and master classes offered by some of the tops in their profession. If you are interested you may go to:

This conference is only offered every other year, I wouldn't miss it for the world. I also am looking forward to visiting with friends in the profession, and to browsing through lots of appealing music.

We are flying out early to spend some time with our son and his family and we are taking our grandsons from Pullman with us to enjoy their cousins. Oh, yes, we are going to a White Sox/Yankees game. I hope to go back to the Chicago Institute of Art.

Upcoming dates:
